Dear Wick,

I really want to thank you for the perfection of your arrangements for my stimulating visit to your campus. Of all the question and answer periods that I have had thus far, the one at the Center with your faculty and graduate students was light years more interesting and stimulating than any other. I really benefited a great deal from having to face up to those good questions.

I noticed a number of people taking notes; if any of them have a record of what the questions were (more than my answers), I'd be grateful to have them because some of them require lots more thought on my part. We did not have any tape recorders going on our side for fear of inhibiting the quality of the discussion.

Beyond that, it was good to see you and meet your wife even briefly. I'm pleased and proud of what you are doing in carrying on studies in a critical but neglected area. Look forward to staying in touch. All the best.

Yours,
